Subject: Data for the water in Dimock

Dear Ms Taylor,
As an analytical chemist I am interested in the data obtained for water wells in Dimock PA as well as any and all tests methods used for this testing.
As you are aware the EPA does not have a limit standard for methane in drinking water.
I am interested in and all methods used to quantify this data and if there is any validations and statistical measurements regarding the methods used for this analysis.
Is it possible to supply any of the methodology used for this testing and if there is any links to validation of such methods.

Thanks,
